TRADITIONAL DRIVEN HUNTING IN HUNGARY

The exclusive hunting ground is located about an hour from Budapest and covers part of the Bakony Forest. Hunting takes place in a large enclosure rich in species and game, covering 1,200 hectares. For enthusiasts, the hilly landscape and beautiful old beech and oak forests not only provide safe bullet traps, but also clear, wide views of the approaching game. On each hunting day, two to four large drives are organised with at least 40 beaters and 30 dogs. The expected bag per hunting day is around 80 to 120 pieces of game.

Accommodation is in the beautiful Karolyi Castle. Surrounded by a country-style park, this 19th century property offers a large library and various cultural events. Each room at Károlyi Kastély has traces of historic décor which include elegant fittings and furniture.
